ENTERTAINMENT.—The second anniversary of the S. W. C. Literary Society was held in the basement of the Church of the Immaculate Conception Saturday night. The exercises consisted of select readings, essays, declamations and a debate. A large and appreciative audience was present and enjoyed the entertainment very highly. The society has made marked progress since their last anniversary, each performer acquitting himself in the most creditable manner. The debate was especially interesting. The question, "Resolved, That mental labor advances the wealth of a nation more than physical lawealth of a nation more than physical la-bor," was ably discussed in the affirmative by Mesers. In the early years of a Life Insurance Company, when income is large and death claims few, the temptation to depart from sound and safe principles is very great, and in such departure lie the seeds of dissolution and diagrace, which have so often overtaken those who yield, to such temptation. ORGANIZATION OF THE SINGERS The company was organized originally in our own State of West Virginia, at Harper's Ferry in 1876, for the purpose of building a Boarding Hall for the students of Stora College still in existence at that point. The sum required was $10, 000 and the troupe succeeded in raising a portion of this amount under the direction of Rev. Mr. Hess. The Boarding Hall was built and stands to-day a monument of education. In 1878 the choir was re-organized and have been traveling uninterruptedly since that time, with the exception of a short vacation during the heated term of 1879. From the date of re-organization they have been singing for churches and Sunday Schools, giving one-third of the gross proceeds to these objects and with the remaining two-thirds paying the necessary printing, transportation, boarding, etc., and supporting their own families. tion of Rev. and one of the most remarkable voices given to woman. The press has spoken of her as a Frima Donna. Her expression is of the sad order until lighted up in her favorite hymns of "Jesus lover of my soul," "Religion is a fortune," &c.

Mrs. Fannie F. Sims—alto—is the only member of the company who was not a born slave. Her parents were slaves, but becoming free removed to Pennsylvania, where Fannie was born. She is short of stature and of brown color, with perhaps the brightest expression of any member of the company. Her voice, says one, is "too great to describe." Its power can well be innagined, when it is known that it balances the combined voices of the entire choir.

it balances the combined voices of the earlier choir.

Mrs. Hattie Lovett, organist and assistant soprano, is perhaps the brightest and prettiest of the company, and has everywhere been regarded as one of the most retiring and lady like of persons. Her voice is said to be a very model—smooth, pure and beautiful in quality of tone.

Mrs. Lovett was born a slave in Winchester. Vs.

E. W. Brown, leading tenor, was a slave in our own State of West Virginia. He is about twenty-eight years of age, of brown complexion, and has a clerical look. His tenor is not strong, but remarkable in sweetness.

John Reid, second tenor, is a very tall, rather comical looking man of twenty-three summers. Smiles play over his face continually, and he generally leads in the more lively parts of the programme. He was also born a slave at Winchester, Va., and made free by the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln. He belonged to Didlin Jones.

Robert Jenkins, basso, is perhaps the most remarkable character in the troupe. He is everywhere termed the wonderful basso. He can reach lower than the lowest octave of piano or organ. To hear him seems like hearing sounds from the bottom of some volcano. Some persons who heard him Sunday said they feared his lower jaw would drop to the floor as he opened his mouth and let out the marvelous bass. He was a slave, also from Winchester, Va. His specialities are "Rocked in the cradle of the Deep." The Old Sexton" and "Old Black Joe" hearing the call to die.

PULPIT POINTS.—Rev. P. A. Heilman, of Muncy, Pa., occupied the pulpit at the Lutheran Church, on Sixteenth street, yesterday morning, preaching from the Gospel by St. John, 16th chapter and 13th verse; "And shall leave me alone; and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me." Mr. Heilman is a young man of fine ability, and made an excellent impression yesterday. His sermon was full comfort to those in trouble, and to such as often feel that they are "lett alone." The Sunday School addresses were on the Beatitudes and Christians as salt and light, as set forth by the International Lesson for the day. There was a very large attendance. The teachers held a special prayer sprying at the close of the school. The evening sermon was by the pastor of the church, the theme being the pastor of the church was quite indisposed yeas. January of 1857 was the coldest during this period, showing a mean temperature of 17.33, making the enormous difference between that month and last, of 28.33, which is within a small fraction of the average mean of January from 1848 to 1868, which was 28.97. The entire absence of the usual storms was 25.97.

The entire absence of the usual storms of snow and rain this winter is unprecedented, although there were eighteen rainy and snowy days in December and fourteen in January. The snow-fall melting soon after reaching the earth could not be measured as such, except four inches of snow on January 12th, though the rainfall of December was 7.54 inches and of January 4.53 inches. This has been the wettest and warmest winter we have known; ice has been very scarce, and open lakes and rivers on the first of February. For the last three decades December has usually been open and mild during its first half, the warm weather reaching often to Christmas, and if winter does not "set in" during the last week in the year, the prognostications are for a mild season.

Sir: We beg to enclose you a copy of an appeal which we have issued to the American people. The circumstances of the case are of so pressing and so terrible a nature, that we trust they will form a sufficient excuse for addressing you.

We would venture to suggest the immediate formation of a relief committee in your city, composed of gentlemen of all nationalities, so that an opportunity may be afforded every citizen of assisting us to keep our people alive until the Government of Eogland comes to their relief.

All money sent to Drexel, Morgan & Co. will be cabled promptly to Ireland, and used within a week, in saving the peasantry of the West of Ireland from death by starvation.

Yours, truly, CHARLES S. PARNELL, JOHN DILLON.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one, and the prospects are that Parnell and Dillon's visit to this city will be productive of much gain to the relief fund. Tuesday. A track will be made around the hall filled with sawdust on which she will walk. Mr. Newton L. Marsh, a prominent is jeweler of Bellaire, will at the same time and place attempt to accomplish 120 miles for a soild gold medal valued at $40, to be given him by Miss Von Blumer should he succeed in his attempt. The entertainment is given under the auspices of Kramer's band, and music will be abundant. We are informed that Mr. Kramer has been arranging new music for this occasion. Miss Von Blumen has retently given one of her exhibitions at Steubenville, where she was greeted with immense audiences, composed of the elite immense audiences, composed of the elite of that city. The finish was made amidst the most intense enthusiasm. There is no petting allowed or anything at all object ionable connected with the entertainment, Manager Miller will not permit it, and Miss Von Blumen would leave the track instantly if such was the case, and we can safely say that ladies and children can at-tend this exhibition without fear of seeing or hearing anything to shock the sensi-bilities. She is called the queen of lady bilities. She is called the queen of lady pedestriennes, and has won an enviable reputation. She comes with the very highest recommendations from all over the country, and we have no doubt she is just what she is represented. Miss Von Blumen is 20 years of age, fine physique, modest and retiring in appearance, and her walking costume is very tasteful and appropriate, and we have no doubt she will make many friends during her stay here.
